

NUNAVUT

Seniors' Information

Handbook

Executive Summary

In August 2014, Premier Taptuna met with the other 12 Canadian premiers for the Council of the Federation. During that meeting, Canadian premiers made a commitment to establish a task force on aging that would undertake work to better understand the impacts of changing demographics on the economy, the delivery of government services and the adequacy of retirement income. Our premier, who is also minister responsible for seniors' advocate, produced this handbook as a resource that provides a comprehensive overview of federal, territorial and local products and services that are available to seniors and their caregivers. This resource is intended to serve as a one-stop-shop for seniors and their caregivers to find programs and services that will help them in living healthy, safe and productive lives.

This resource is intended to be distributed across the territory to seniors, frontline workers, government offices, as well as made available online on the Government of Nunavut's website at www.gov.nu.ca.

To get a copy of this handbook, please call 975-6000.

Message from the Minister

The Government of Nunavut (GN) is committed to supporting one of our most vulnerable and influential groups. Elders are Nunavummiut's strongest tie to our history and strong traditions, and to bridging our culture and language in the modern world.

As Nunavut's seniors' advocate, I am dedicated to protecting the interests of our Elders, and to developing a coordinated approach to seniors' services in the territory. The GN is working to make it as easy as possible for seniors to access government and community services.

We have prepared this handbook, as part of our work to plan ahead to make sure Nunavut's seniors have an excellent continuum of care to help them stay healthy as long as possible and access support services. It lays out what is available and where, and who to contact for more information.

I hope that it provides the information you need to help find services for seniors within your community and across the territory.

Premier of Nunavut

Points of Service

Service Canada

Service Canada provides Canadians with a single point of access to a wide range of government services and benefits through the internet, by telephone, in person or by mail. The Government of Canada's new website (Canada.ca) contains the most up-to-date information about the Canada Pension Plan (CPP), Old Age Security (OAS) pension and related benefits, the Canadian retirement income calculator and retirement planning.

For more information on the Government of Canada's CPP and OAS, find the Pensions and Other Benefits section in this handbook.

To find the closest Service Canada Centre to you, visit Canada.ca.

Crime

Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre

The Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre (CAFC) is Canada's central repository for data, intelligence and resource material as it relates to fraud. It is jointly managed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Ontario Provincial Police and the Competition Bureau of Canada.

The CAFC's primary goals are:

- prevention through education and awareness
- disruption of criminal activities
- dissemination of intelligence
- support to law enforcement
- strengthening partnerships between the private and public sectors with the aim of maintaining Canada's strong economic integrity

There are many known scams, pitches and fraud types, and new or varied ones are invented every day. The CAFC helps seniors understand and fight telemarketing fraud, online scams, email scams, identity theft, business scams and mail scams.

For more information, or to report a fraud, please contact:

Pensions and Benefits

Government of Canada – Canada Pension Plan (CPP)

The Government of Canada’s Canada Pension Plan (CPP) operates throughout Canada, except in Québec, where the Québec Pension Plan (QPP) provides similar benefits. The CPP provides partial replacement of earnings for persons who retire, become disabled, or to survivors if the contributor dies. It is important to note that you must apply to the program in order to receive any payments.

Retirement pension

At the age of 65, a person can apply for and receive a full CPP retirement pension. You can begin to receive these payments as early as age 60, however with a reduction, or as late as age 70 with an increase.

Post-retirement benefit

You can decide to continue to work while you are receiving your CPP retirement pension. If you continue to work while receiving your CPP retirement pension and are under age 70, you can continue to participate in the CPP. Your CPP contributions will go toward post-retirement benefits, which will increase your retirement income.

Disability benefits

If you become severely disabled and you are no longer able to work at any job on a regular basis, you and your children may receive a monthly benefit. Benefits may also be available to your dependent children.

Survivor benefits

If you die, the CPP survivor benefit may be paid, at the time of death, to your estate, surviving spouse or common-law partner and children.

Death Benefits

The CPP death benefit is a one-time, lump-sum payment to the estate on behalf of a deceased CPP contributor. In the absence of an estate, this payment may also be made to other persons who apply for the benefit, in the following order of priority: the person or institution that has paid for or that is responsible for paying for the funeral expenses of the deceased; the surviving spouse or common-law partner of the deceased; or the next-of-kin of the deceased.

These provisions may help you qualify and/or increase your CPP benefit amount:

Pension sharing

This benefit option allows married or common-law couples in an ongoing relationship to voluntarily share their CPP retirement pensions. Sharing your pension may result in tax savings.

Credit splitting for divorced or separated couples

The CPP contributions you and your spouse or common-law partner made during the time you lived together can be equally divided after a divorce or separation.

Child Rearing Provision

If you stopped working or received lower earnings to raise your children, you may be able to use the “child-rearing provision” to increase your CPP benefits. If you are deemed eligible, the child-rearing period will be excluded from the contributory period when calculating your CPP benefit amount, ensuring that you get the highest possible payment.

For more information, on the Canada Pension Plan (CPP) visit Canada.ca. or phone:
Toll-free: 1-800-277-9914
TTY: 1-800-255-4786 (for people with trouble hearing)

You can also contact your local Service Canada Center for more information. You can find the number for the closest Service Canada Centre to you in the community directory of services section of this handbook or by visiting Canada.ca.

Government of Canada – Old Age Security Program

The Old Age Security (OAS) program is the Government of Canada’s largest pension program. It is funded out of the general revenues of the Government of Canada, which means that you do not pay into it directly.

The OAS pension is a monthly payment available to most Canadians 65 years of age who meet the Canadian legal status and residence requirements. You must apply to receive it.

In addition to the OAS pension, there are three types of OAS benefits:

Guaranteed Income Supplement

If you live in Canada and you have a low income, this is a monthly non-taxable benefit that can be added to your OAS pension.

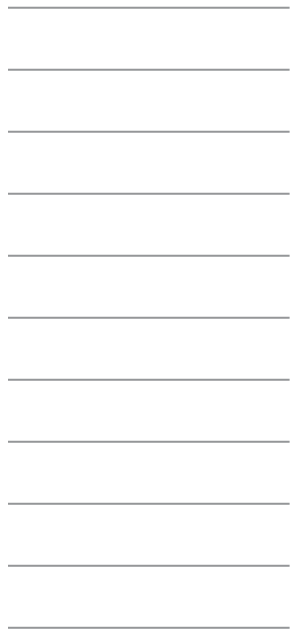

Allowance

If you are 60 to 64 years of age, and if your spouse or common-law partner is currently receiving the OAS pension and the Guaranteed Income Supplement, you might be eligible to receive this benefit.

Allowance for the Survivor

This benefit is intended for people who are between the ages of 60 to 64 years, have a low income, are living in Canada and are widowed.

For more information on OAS, visit Canada.ca.
or phone:
Toll-free: 1-800-277-9914

You can also contact your local Service Canada center for more information. You can find the number for the closest Service Canada Centre to you in the Community Directory of Services section of this handbook or by visiting Canada.ca.

Government of Canada – Veterans’ Programs

Veterans Affairs Canada offers a wide variety of services (www.veterans.gc.ca/eng/services) for veterans and their families – programs to assist you after an injury or during the transition from military to civilian life, and many other services to help you and your family throughout your life.

Finance and Planning

Taxes

Most types of income are taxable. The Canada Revenue Agency provides specific information for seniors on taxes.

For more information, please visit the Canada Revenue Agency website at: www.cra-arc.gc.ca/seniors/ or call: 1-800-959-8281.

GST/HST credit

The GST/HST credit is a tax-free quarterly payment that helps individuals and families with low or modest incomes offset all or part of the GST/HST that they pay.

You do not have to apply for this credit. The Canada Revenue Agency will automatically determine your eligibility when you file your income tax and benefit return.

If you have a spouse or common-law partner, only one of you can receive the credit. The credit will be paid to the person whose return is assessed first. The amount will be the same, regardless of who (in the couple) receives it.

Recreation

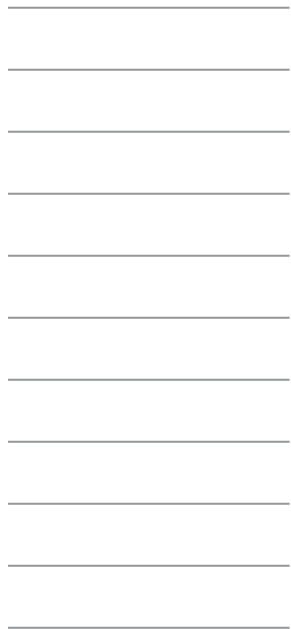

National Parks, National Historic Sites and National Marine Conservation Areas

Senior citizens have a 15 per cent discount on entry fees at Canada's national parks, national historic sites and national marine conservation areas for visitors ages 65 and up.

Prices vary depending on the level of service and time of year; please visit the Parks Canada website for more information to assist you in planning your visit.

For more information, please visit the Parks Canada website at: www.pc.gc.ca or call: 1-888-773-8888.

All visitors will have free admission to national parks, national historic sites and national marine conservation areas operated by Parks Canada in 2017 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of Confederation.

Department of Health

The Department of Health has facilities across Nunavut including health centres, a hospital and continuing care centres.

Health centres

Insured hospital services are delivered in 28 facilities across Nunavut including: one general hospital (Iqaluit); two regional health facilities (Rankin Inlet and Cambridge Bay); 22 community health centres; one public health facility (Iqaluit), and one family practice clinic (Iqaluit). Rehabilitative treatment is available through the Timimut Ikajuksivik Centre located in Iqaluit, or through contracted services in other regions. Nunavummiut also have access to Akausisarvik Mental Health Facility, the Cambridge Bay Mental Health Facility, and two continuing care centres in Igloolik and Gjoa Haven.

Health centres provide different services including:

- sick clinics
- emergency services
- well woman clinics
- well man clinics
- well children clinics
- pre and post-natal clinics
- chronic disease clinics
- immunizations
- TB treatment programs
- school health and health promotion programming
- visiting specialist clinics (ophthalmology, dental, rehab services, etc.)
- pediatricians
- physician clinics
- counselling services
- mental health

Qikiqtani General Hospital (QGH)

The Qikiqtani General Hospital (QGH) is currently the only acute care facility in Nunavut providing a range of in and out-patient hospital services as defined by the Canada Health Act. QGH offers 24-hour emergency services, in-patient care (including obstetrics, pediatrics and palliative care), surgical services, laboratory services, diagnostic imaging, respiratory therapy, and health records and information.

Regional health facilities

Rankin Inlet and Cambridge Bay

Currently, Rankin Inlet is providing 24-hour care for in-patients; out-patients receive care by on-call staff. Cambridge Bay is providing daily clinic hours, and emergency care is available, on-call, 24-hour a day.

Public health and family practice clinic

Public health services are provided at public health clinics located in Rankin Inlet and Iqaluit. Public health programming is provided in the remaining communities through local health centres. The Department of Health also operates a family practice clinic, led by nurse practitioners, in Iqaluit.

Community health centres

Community health centres are located in 22 communities across Nunavut. Community health centres provide public health services, out-patient services and urgent treatment services.

To contact any of the above listed health centres, please see the community directory of services for your community in this handbook.

Boarding homes

Boarding homes are funded by First Nations and Inuit Health Branch (FNIHB) of the Canadian government. These boarding homes are for Land Claims Beneficiaries and their escorts on approved medical travel. If you are a non-beneficiary escorting a beneficiary, you will be eligible to stay at the boarding home with the beneficiary.

If you are a beneficiary with an employer insurance plan that covers accommodations, you can stay at a boarding home but must give your insurance company's billing information to the boarding home. In the event a boarding home is full, you may be asked to leave in order to make room for beneficiaries without any other insurance plans.

Below is more information on boarding homes:

Churchill – Iglualuk Boarding Home

If you stay at Iglualuk Boarding Home, they will provide you with meals and accommodation for the length of your stay. You will have your own bed, but you might have to share a room with either your escort or another patient of the same gender. If asked, the boarding home will provide interpreter services at the boarding home and at the hospital for your appointments. Staff will drive you to your appointments and back to the airport when it's time to leave.

Patient relations

The Department of Health's Office of Patient Relations is available to help proactively address any issues, concerns or questions that might arise in order to improve patients' experience along their health care journey.

The primary goals of this office are to help patients and families navigate the health care system; direct patients and their families to the appropriate person within the system; help those with questions related to patient rights, or concerns about care and services; provide information on the concern process; provide advice on conflict resolution for patients, families and hospital personnel; investigate patient concerns and provide conclusions in a timely manner, and make recommendations to improve patient care following investigation of a concern.

We welcome any suggestion you have on how to make your relationship with us more comfortable. We use this information to improve quality on a number of levels. If you have suggestions, feedback or concerns, we would like to hear from you. Feel free to speak with any member of your care team, or you can contact the territorial manager of patient relations.

Health insurance and health care card

The Department of Health offers insurance programs to help Nunavummiut pay the costs of insured medical treatment, prescription drugs, medical supplies and medical travel. Every Nunavut resident is covered under the Nunavut Health Care Plan when they meet the eligibility criteria.

The Nunavut Health Care Plan also offers an additional insurance plan called Extended Health Benefits that may help pay for any prescriptions, medical travel costs or medical supplies and equipment needs.

Visit the Department of Health's website to find health insurance options offered by the Government of Nunavut, Health Canada and other insurance companies.

Benefits under the Seniors Full Coverage Plan

Benefit	Coverage	Claim Method
Medical travel	The program will cover the full cost of the $250 copayment for air travel not covered by the Nunavut Health Care Plan.	If you are enrolled in the Extended Health Benefits Full Coverage Plan for Seniors, please tell the travel clerk at the health centre so you will not be invoiced for the $250 copayment fee. You will have to pay all other costs up front. You can apply for repayment for some of your medical travel costs through the program.
Prescription drugs	The program will pay the full cost of approved prescription drugs, as defined in the Health Canada NIHB drug benefit list.	Tell your Nunavut pharmacist that you are covered by the program and they will call the Nunavut Health Insurance Office to verify. The cost of your prescription will be billed directly to the program. If you are filling a prescription outside of Nunavut, you will have to pay for your own prescription drugs. If you have to pay for your prescription up front, send your original receipts and a claim form to the address below.
Medical supplies and equipment	The program will pay for covered medical supplies and equipment: http://www.hc-sc.gc.ca/fniah-spnia/nihb-ssna/provide-fournir/pharma-prod/med-list/index-eng.php	For high cost items ($500 or more), or if you are unable to pay up front, please have the equipment provider contact Nunavut Health Insurance Programs, Extended Health Benefit Division: 1-800-661-0833.
Dental supplies	The program will pay for dental services up to $1,000 per year. The program will pay the full cost of one pair of dentures every five years (this expense counts towards the $1,000 per year).	Send the original receipts with your claim form to the address below.

Medical travel benefits help pay for medical services that are offered in communities other than your own.

Non-insured health benefits

The Non-Insured Health Benefits Program is funded by the First Nations and Inuit Health Branch of Health Canada. It provides coverage for benefit claims for a specified range of drugs, dental care, vision care, medical supplies and equipment, short-term crisis intervention, mental health counselling, and medical transportation for eligible Inuit and First Nations.

In Nunavut, administration of the program is divided between Health Canada's northern region office and the health insurance programs office in Rankin Inlet.

Continuing care

Continuing care includes home and community care, continuing care centres, Elders' homes and Elders' programs.

Home and community care

Available in all communities, home and community care is a coordinated system of home and community-based, health-related services. Through the provision of medical care and support, home and community care allows individuals with assessed needs to live as independently as possible in their own homes.

All Nunavummiut enrolled in the Nunavut Health Care Plan are eligible for referral to the Home and Community Care Program. Anyone can ask for home care services through their community health centre or local home care office. You do not need a health care professional to make a request or referral.

Once a request is received for home care services, an assessment will be done by a health professional to figure out what level of support is needed and what home care services are most appropriate for that person, and his or her family.

People can get help with services like:

- nursing care
- palliative care
- respite care
- foot care
- case management
- rehabilitation services
- homemaking
- personal care

The Home and Community Care Program also supports an equipment loan program, as well as the purchase of required medical materials and supplies.

To receive home and community care services, contact your home care office or local health centre. Contact information can be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Continuing care centres

The Government of Nunavut operates two continuing care centres in Nunavut. These centres are located in Igloolik and Gjoa Haven and offer 24-hour, 7-day nursing and personal care. Each centre has a 10-bed capacity, including one bed designated for respite/palliative care. You can find the number for these centres in the directory of health centres below.

Residential long-term care

Residential long-term care services provide 24-hour, 7-day nursing and personal care to elders and other adults in Nunavut continuing care centres.

For more information, please contact your local health centre or the territorial home and continuing care coordinator at 867-975-5776.

Rehabilitation

Rehabilitation services help people of all ages regain or improve their ability to live, work and function independently in their communities. The Department of Health provides the following rehabilitation services free of charge to all Nunavut residents covered by the Nunavut Health Care Plan:

- Physiotherapy – helps people develop or regain mobility through physical means.
- Occupational therapy – helps people who are having trouble completing activities due to an injury, illness, long-term condition, aging, a mental health or developmental condition.
- Speech-language pathology – helps improve communication difficulties. This includes reading, writing, speaking, sign language and using computers to understand or speak to others. They also help with eating and swallowing difficulties.
- Audiology – assesses, treats and prevents hearing loss or disorders.

Community therapy assistants work out of community health centres, and help carry out treatment programs planned by rehabilitation professionals.

Getting rehabilitation services

You do not need a referral from a doctor or nurse to get rehabilitation services. You can call your local health centre or the rehabilitation office to set up an appointment.

If you live in the Qikiqtaaluk Region, call Timimut Ikajuqsivik at 867-975-5970.

If you live in the Kivalliq Region, call the Wellness Centre at 867-645-8077.

If you live in the Kitikmeot Region, call the Kitikmeot Health Centre at 867-983-4530.

Healthy living

The Department of Health hosts a number of programs that support healthy living. Please visit their website at <http://www.livehealthy.gov.nu.ca/en> to learn more about healthy eating, active living, alcohol, drug and tobacco-free lifestyles, sexual and mental health.

Communicable diseases and immunization

Communicable diseases are diseases caused by bacteria, viruses or other organisms that can spread from one person to another or from animals to people directly or through food, water or air. Influenza, tuberculosis and syphilis are all examples of communicable diseases.

The Department of Health's environmental health officers and public health staff work together to make sure the public has safe food and drinking water in order to prevent Nunavummiut from getting sick; they follow up with the people who have gotten sick or been in contact with sick people to prevent the further spread of disease.

For more information on communicable diseases and immunization, please visit the Department of Health's website at <http://gov.nu.ca/health>, scroll over the "programs" drop-down menu and select the communicable diseases option or contact your local public health center. Contact information for your local public health center is located in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Chronic diseases

Chronic diseases are long-term diseases that worsen over time. They have many different causes and can affect a person at any stage of their life, although they usually appear as people get older.

Chronic diseases usually start with mild symptoms that slowly get worse until they limit a person's movements or cause disability. Most chronic diseases eventually cause death. Nearly 60 per cent of all deaths worldwide are the result of chronic disease conditions.

Everyone is at risk of getting a chronic disease, but there are ways to protect yourself. The best and easiest ways to help prevent chronic disease conditions are:

- Quit smoking: smoking is a cause of many chronic disease conditions.
- Get active: physical activity strengthens the body and the immune system.
- Eat well: a healthy diet including fruits and vegetables is an important part of disease prevention.
- Reduce alcohol consumption: heavy drinking puts a person at higher risk for many chronic diseases.

For more information, contact your local health centre or call the Department of Health at 867-975-5700. Contact information for your local health centre can also be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Department of Culture and Heritage

Department of Culture and Heritage, Elders and youth division

The Elders and youth division encourages and supports elders in communities to be involved in their own Elders committees. Funding is provided to Elders committees. Eligibility is restricted to community-based non-profit Elders committees including municipal corporations acting on their behalf. The director of Elders and youth approves grants to Elders committees based on the recommendation of the review working group.

Community programs for Elders

Elder Initiative Grant:

This program provides grants to individuals, non-profit organizations and municipal corporations that promote Elders' activities in Nunavut. The maximum grant that can be awarded is $15,000.

Elders and Youth Committee Grant:

This program provides grants to support youth and Elders committees in Nunavut. The maximum amount that can be awarded is $5,000.

Elder Initiative Contribution:

This program provides contributions to individuals and non-profit organizations that promote Elders' activities in Nunavut. The maximum contribution that can be awarded is $25,000, subject to available funding.

Elder and Youth Facilities Contributions:

This program provides contributions to non-profit community-based organizations and municipal corporations for the development and/or renovation of Elders and youth facilities, or relevant associated equipment. The maximum amount of a contribution is $200,000, subject to available funding.

Inuit Qaujimajatuqangit

Inuit societal values funding

The Government of Nunavut is committed to the promotion and integration of Inuit societal values (ISV) at all levels.

Funding is available for projects designed to strengthen the role of Elders in the community, as a means of addressing social wellness issues based on ISV.

The broad objective of ISV funding is to improve community wellness by establishing high levels of cooperation between community service agencies and groups using Inuit approaches to dealing with social problems and issues.

Eligibility: grants and contributions are limited to non-profit organizations, individuals and/or municipal corporations.

If your organization is interesting in applying for ISV funding, contact the Director of Inuit Qaujimajatuqangit, Department of Culture and Heritage, Government of Nunavut, at 867-975-5500.

Elder Support Phone Line

The Elder support phone line provides a confidential “safe haven” for unilingual (Inuktitut-speaking) Elders to talk to a confidante, and receive advice on their issues and concerns.

Phone calls are answered between 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. – with an answering machine on after office hours.

Toll-free: 1-866-684-5056

Department of Family Services

Public guardianship

Help and protection is available to adults who are unable to make decisions regarding their care needs.

Nunavut's Guardianship and Trusteeship Act allows the Nunavut Court of Justice to choose a person to make decisions on behalf of adults who have become dependent on others to look after their daily needs. The person named as the guardian can be either Nunavut's adult services specialist or a close friend or family member of the dependent adult. Anyone can refer a person to the guardianship program.

A guardian is expected to assist the dependent adult to make decisions in areas such as:

- health care
- legal matters
- nutrition
- shelter
- personal care

If you believe someone you know is not autonomous and needs someone to make decisions on their behalf, you can contact the adult services specialist to talk about your concerns.

Adult Services Specialist

1-867-975-5200

A fully qualified professional will assess whether an adult needs a guardian.

Social Assistance

The Social Assistance Program is a program of last resort intended to help Nunavut families and individuals meet their basic needs when for various reasons, including disability, illness, low-income or periods of unemployment, they are unable to provide for themselves.

For help and information, contact your local income assistance worker or your Family Services regional office to set up an appointment:

Qikiqtaaluk: 1-800-567-1514

Kivalliq: 1-800-953-8516

Kitikmeot: 1-800-661-0845

Local income assistance worker contact information can be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Senior Citizen Supplementary Benefit (SCSB)

The Senior Citizen Supplementary Benefit is a monthly payment of $175 made to low-income seniors in Nunavut. It is added to the monthly old age security benefits, and eligible individuals are automatically enrolled when they file their taxes each year. The SCSB is administered by the federal government on behalf of Nunavut, so seniors receive one monthly payment that combines old age security, guaranteed income supplement and the Senior Citizen Supplementary Benefit.

Nunavummiut who are 60 years of age or older and are receiving the federal guaranteed income supplement (GIS) or spousal allowance are eligible.

If you need help reaching Service Canada, contact your local income assistance worker or government liaison officer. Contact information for your community support worker or government liaison can be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Senior Fuel Subsidy (SFS)

The Senior Fuel Subsidy is a program that helps offset the high cost of heating fuel for seniors who own and live in their homes. Eligible homeowners are reimbursed for the cost of home heating fuel, up to 3,500 litres. An income assessment is done to establish whether the net income of the applicant or applicants is within the program limits.

To be eligible for this subsidy, applicants must:

- Be a permanent resident of Nunavut.
- Be 60 years of age or older.
- Own and live in the home for which the subsidy is requested.
- Not be a social assistance recipient.
- Have a net annual income of $100,000 or less.

The amount of fuel reimbursed under the Senior Fuel Subsidy depends on an individual's net annual income:

Net annual income	Eligibility for subsidy
$0 – $75,000	100% (3,500 litres)
$75,001 – $100,000	50% (1,750 litres)
$100,001+	Not eligible

To apply or get more information, please contact your local income assistance office. Contact information for your local income assistance office can be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Department of Education

Elders in schools

The Education Act states that district education authorities (DEA) may employ Elders to be involved in schools as employees, to assist in the enhancement of the education program using their skills and knowledge relating to Inuit culture and traditions.

Elders with specific skills are recommended by the DEAs to be designated as Innait Inuksiutilirijiit through certification by the minister of Education.

Innait Inuksiutilirijiit teach students Inuit language and culture, including traditional living skills, on-the-land skills, and traditional environmental knowledge and navigation techniques.

For more information on how you can become involved in your school, please contact your local DEA. Contact information for your local DEA can be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Nunavut Arctic College

Senior Citizen Tuition Fees

In support and enhancement of the college mission statement, NAC will provide opportunities for senior citizens to enroll, on a part-time basis, in courses offered by the college free of tuition fees.

This program applies to senior citizens who are 60 years of age and older. Access to various programs will depend upon availability of places. First priority will be given to students pursuing a college certificate or diploma. Proof of age must be presented at the time of registration.

For more information, please contact the Nunavut Arctic College campus in your community:

Nunavut Victim Care Program

After a crime has been committed, many people feel scared, anxious and alone. The Nunavut Victim Care Program provides information, advocacy, service referrals and direct support to Nunavummiut who have been victimized by crime. These services include:

Nunavut Victim Travel Support Program (NVTSP)

NVTSP provides travel-related financial assistance to survivors and/or family members of victims of the most serious violent crimes occurring in Nunavut.

The Department of Justice recognizes the many challenges, questions and decisions that victims face, and is committed to working with families through the process of applying to attend the eligible court proceedings.

Support with Victim Impact Statement

The purpose of the victim impact statement is to let the judge, crown attorney, defence lawyer and the accused know how you were affected by the crime. Anyone who is a victim of a crime – survivors of a deceased victim, parent or guardian of a child victim, or a spouse, dependent or close relative of a victim – may prepare a victim impact statement.

For more information about support with victim impact statements, please contact your local community justice outreach worker. Contact information for community justice outreach workers can be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Direct Support

As victims go through the various stages of court procedures, Nunavut Victim Services provides information that victims may need to help them navigate through the criminal justice system.

Victim services staff also advocate with court services and Public Prosecution Service of Canada (PPSC) for any of the victims' questions, needs or special requests, while participating in the criminal justice process.

The Office of the Public Trustee administers estates of deceased and missing persons, looks after the legal and financial interests of minors, and assists dependent adults with their legal and financial interest. These functions are assumed by the Office of the Public Trustee in the absence of next-of-kin who are willing and able to act as trustees.

For more information or assistance, please contact the Office of the Public Trustee at 1-866-294-2127 to speak with someone.

Corrections

Correctional facility land program officers have an ongoing informal relationship with Elders in three communities – Kugluktuk, Rankin Inlet and Iqaluit. Through the land program, inmates go out hunting and fishing, and supply country food to Elders who are no longer able to hunt on their own. In some cases, Elders are able to participate. This relationship lets Elders show inmates how to skin and prepare hides.

Motor vehicle fees

The fee for a driver's licence and examination is reduced at least 50 per cent for a person who is 60 years of age or older.

The fee for changing the class, name or address on a licence is also greatly reduced for seniors.

Seniors also benefit from a reduced fee for motor vehicle or ATV registration.

Medical examinations

A class 1, 2, 3 or 4 driver's licence requires a Nunavut driver's medical examination report when you first apply, every five years until age 45, every three years until age 65, and every year after that.

A class 5, 6 or 7 driver's licence requires a medical examination at age 75, at age 80, and every two years after age 80. The registrar may ask medical reports on a more frequent basis, and may ask a medical if an individual or their medical professional has identified a medical concern that limits an individual's ability to drive safely.

A medical professional is responsible for completing and submitting the medical form to the registrar of motor vehicles.

Accessible parking permits

Accessible parking permits are administered by the motor vehicles office; there is no charge.

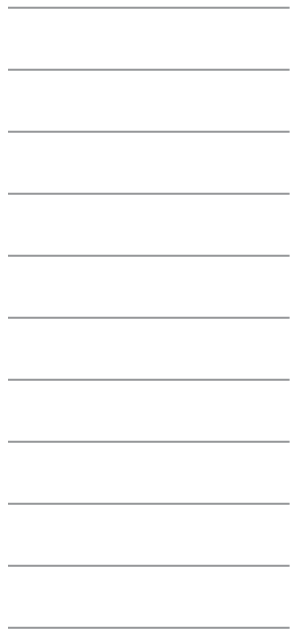

General identification card

You must be a resident of Nunavut in order to be issued a general identification card.

There is no fee for a general identification card.

Note: Two pieces of government-issued identification are required, and at least must one show your date of birth.

A general identification card is valid for five years.

Department of Environment

Hunting and fishing licences

Under the Nunavut Land Claims Agreement, Inuit registered as beneficiaries have the right to harvest wildlife to their full level of economic, cultural and social reasons. No licence or permit, or fee or tax is needed to fulfil this right.

Non-Inuit who have lived in Nunavut for a long time have special harvesting and access privileges that newcomers don't have.

The Nunavut Wildlife Management Board sets the total allowable harvest whenever the amount of wildlife harvested could be more than the environment can sustain. In this case, there will be limitations on the harvesting of some species.

To learn more about harvesting rights, licences, permits or animal tags, please contact your local hamlet office or hunters and trappers organization. Contact information for hamlets and HTOs can be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

Nunavut Housing Corporation

Public housing

Dedicated public housing for seniors

The Nunavut Housing Corporation, through the local housing offices, owns and maintains senior-specific public housing units in 18 communities across Nunavut: Arviat, Baker Lake, Cambridge Bay, Cape Dorset, Chesterfield Inlet, Clyde River, Coral Harbour, Gjoa Haven, Igloolik, Iqaluit, Kimmirut, Kugaaruk, Kugluktuk, Pangnirtung, Pond Inlet, Qikiqtarjuaq, Rankin Inlet and Taloyoak.

Rent for Elders

Elders 60 or older, and currently living under the Core Need Income Threshold (CNIT) as determined by the Canadian Mortgage and Housing Corporation, are eligible to be assessed for $0 rent when living in any public housing. Elders who have an income over CNIT are only assessed rent on the portion of their income that falls over and above the CNIT.

For more information, please contact your local housing organization. Contact information for all local housing organizations can be found in the community directory of services in this handbook.

NHC's Homeownership Programs

Senior Citizens Home Repair Program

The Senior Citizens Home Repair Program (SCHRP) provides financial assistance to eligible homeowners over the age of 60 who need to repair or adapt their homes to assist them with difficulties they encounter with daily living activities, in order to ensure their continued safety.

The assistance comes in the form of a grant, to a maximum amount of $15,000, plus freight costs.

Seniors and Persons with Disabilities Preventative Maintenance Program

The Seniors and Persons with Disabilities Preventative Maintenance Program (SPDPMP) helps eligible homeowners over the age of 60 to carry out preventative maintenance and minor repairs to their home.

An annual contribution of $3,000 can be provided to cover costs such as materials, freight and labour.

The Nunavut Housing Corporation supports preventative maintenance and minor repairs for eligible homeowners, in order to:

- Ensure the client's continued safe occupancy.
- Extend the service life of building systems.
- Reduce the number of emergency repairs required due to lack of preventative maintenance.
- Assist seniors and disabled persons in overcoming obstacles to continued homeownership.

The Seniors and Persons with Disabilities Housing Options Program

The Seniors and Persons with Disabilities Housing Options Program is for seniors and disabled persons who have difficulty with owning and maintaining a home. This program allows seniors to transfer their home to someone already in public housing or on the public housing waiting list who can afford the ongoing costs of homeownership. When no one can be identified, clients have the option of selling their home to the Nunavut Housing Corporation.

Once a client has sold or transferred their home, they are given priority access to the Nunavut Housing Corporation Public Housing Program.

To find out more about seniors' homeownership programs or to download any application form, please visit the Nunavut Housing Corporation website at <http://www.nunavuthousing.ca/>, or contact:

Elders' centres

The Nunavut Housing Corporation owns and maintains two Elders centres, one in Iqaluit and one in Arviat. While the buildings are maintained by the local housing organization, each center is run independently.

The Pairijait Tigumivik Society in Iqaluit and the Andy Aulatjut Elders Center in Arviat are residential supportive living centres for the elderly. They offer extended care for Elders whose families no longer have the ability to care for their Elder at home, and provide personal care, medication assistance and emotional support.

Each centre can accommodate eight Elders; however, the Iqaluit centre is further supported by an additional 12 independent living units dedicated for Elders.
